

Is Sent Out By Walter Houser In Behalf Of John Strange
Of Appleton--J. F. Trotman Of Milwaukee, Slated By Davidson Organization.

primary election ballots as a rival to Mr. Trottmann.

Naturally the state officers are annoyed by the bringing out of Strange. It transpires that the Strange campaign was operated from Madison, which accounts for the fact that Mr. Strange did not know Saturday morning whether or not he would be a candidate.

Walter L. Houser, ex-secretary of state, sent out a lot of letters in the form of a printed mandate to "Get Housy!" This command was printed in the type at the head of the letter, and following is a communication to the supposedly faithful recipient to handle with all possible speed and circulate the enclosed Strange blanks.

The information is also set forth that Strange is a faithful supporter of La Follette. This contest between Strange and Trottmann will be watched with great interest, for in it Senator La Follette and Governor Davidson again measure political strength and influence. If Trottmann wins the nomination it will be an indication that Governor Davidson is a match for the senator, and if Strange wins it will be marked down as the first time that La Follette has defeated the Davidson organization.

COUNCIL TO BUY A NEW STEAMER

NEGOTIATIONS FOR FIRE ENGINE AUTHORIZED LAST NIGHT.

FIERCE WORD ORGY AVERTED

And the Scissors of the Local Newspaper Preserved Intact by Prompt Rulings of Mayor Heddles.

Mayor Heddles saved the wicker press of Janesville from an awful scene just as the common council meeting was drawing to a close last evening, but the end is not yet. Indeed, the future is positively beset with trouble and there is no reason to apprehend anything other than the worst. Alderman J. J. Dulla grasped an assortment of clippings and arose to call the attention of his colleagues to an item headed "Oh Lord, How Long!" which had been published in one of the local newspapers. The outlook for a wordy pow-wow was exceedingly threatening when Alderman Brown interrupted him by raising a point of order to the effect that there was no question before the house. The mayor so ruled. Alderman Sheridan then moved that Ald. Dulla be permitted to speak regardless of all rules and the house promptly declared the motion out of order. Whereupon Alderman O'Hara closed the incident with a motion to adjourn, and the sticky night passed into history uneventfully.

Bond Issue Provided for.
Chairman Carle of the committee on sewers presented an ordinance appropriating $15,000 for the construction of the main sewer outlet and providing for the issue of ninety four percent bonds of the denomination of $500, the same to be sold at par value and accrued interest. The measure was given its first and second reading and further action was deferred until August 31 when it shall have been published three times in the official city paper. The report of the street assessment committee regarding the award of contracts in all of the various sewer districts excepting the one where the main outlet is to be built, was approved. The mayor and city clerk were authorized by an order to sign an agreement with the C. & N. W. Ry. Co. for a sewer right-of-way through the company's property.

Financial Matters.
The city treasurer's report for the month of July was accepted and placed on file and the finance committee's report on bills was adopted. Harry S. Haggart who was employed to audit the city treasurer's books submitted an accounting in which he showed that with the exception of a few clerical discrepancies amounting to $10.30 everything was correct. He found the balance in the First National bank to be $37,711.53 and the cash in the drawer amounted to $898.69. Ald. Brown introduced an order directing the city clerk to draw an order on the treasurer in favor of ex-Patrolman Sam Brown in the sum of $300, in full payment for services rendered from March 1 to August 1, 1908. The order was turned down by a vote of 6 to 4. Aldermen Brown, Huchelz, Clark, and Watt voting in the affirmative. Ald. Brown said that his only purpose was to place the city council on record again so that the man might have full justification for taking other steps to collect his just dues. The contract, bond, and specifications submitted by the Milwaukee Bridge Co. for the construction of a sidewalk on the easterly side of the Monterey bridge at a cost of $1,172, the same to be completed before October 1, were accepted.

Departmental Reports.
Chief of Police Appleby and Officer John Brown both submitted reports for the police department during the month of July. The Brown report was accepted and the Appleby report was rejected by a vote of 7 to 3, only Aldermen Brown, Clark, and Watt voting in the negative on a motion to lay it on the table. Chief Appleby's report showed that there were 143 arrests during the month. Of this number 131 were for drunkenness, 3 for assault and battery, 1 for abusive language, 1 for larceny, 3 for breaking into cars, 3 for larceny, and 1 for desertion. Fifty-four were taken to court and 89 discharged. Arrests were credited to the various officers as follows: Appleby, 14; John Brown, 11; Sam Brown, 17; Channing, 10; Dorn, 20; Fanning, 29; Mason, 17; Morrissey, 15; Dulla, 2; Dalton, 1; Palmer, 1. The board of education's report for July showed that orders for $268.25 had been drawn and the same was approved. According to the report of the superintendent of the stone crusher 528½ yards of crushed stone were delivered during the two weeks ending on August 1. The last street commissioner's report on new walks needed was adopted, and the street commissioner was directed to see to it that the said walks are built. The municipal court report for July showed that fees, fines, penalties and city marshal fees amounting to $117.55 had been collected.

To Buy New Fire Engine?
Further time was granted the fire and water committee for the consideration of a petition from Claude Snyder and others for an extension of the water mains on Highland avenue. Edward Smith's petition for permission to move a small frame barn was granted. Chairman Huchelz introduced resolution authorizing and empowering the fire and water committee and the Chief Engineer to negotiate for a suitable steam fire-engine to take the place of the one now in use and the measure was carried by unanimous vote.

Heated Arguments Over Walk.
Ald. Rehfeld introduced an order granting permission to C. K. Miller to construct a four foot walk in front of his property on Center Ave. from Eastern avenue to the railway right-of-way. Ald. O'Hara did not think that the said four-foot walk was wide enough for the blind students and moved that the order be laid on the table. The city attorney was asked for an opinion and said that though the thoroughfare was not graded, Mr. Miller could be compelled to keep the walk there in first class condition. Ald. O'Hara did not believe in permitting sidewalks to dodge every shrub and current bush in town and Ald. Dulla agreed that a four foot walk on the hill was too narrow. Ald. Carle said that everybody was out of order as a motion to lay on the table was not debatable. Mayor Heddles declared that while that might be true, the need for walk there was sufficiently urgent to warrant careful consideration. The motion to lay on the table was lost by a vote of 1 to 9, only Ald. O'Hara standing out in favor of it. The original order was then passed by a vote of 9 to 1. The street commissioner was directed to serve notices on the owners of lots 10, 11, and 12, block 7, Jackson & Smith's addition, and the owners of lots 1 and 13, block 6, Forest Park addition, to build standard walks on 8, Third St. That same official was also directed to build brick crosswalks on Rock street on the west side of S. River St., across Forest Park boulevard on the south side of South Third St., and on the east side of Milton Ave. across Bennett and Grand streets.

Miscellaneous Business.
The Janesville Park Wm. Co. was granted permission to extend its switching track on the south side of School street, between River and Franklin streets, 125 feet westerly towards Franklin street. The extension is needed to serve the new warehouse now under construction. The highway committee was granted further time for the consideration of a communication from Rev. W. P. Christy and other residents on Pleasant street, calling attention to the dust nuisance caused by the teams drawing loads from the crusher and asking that an investigation be made with a view to finding some remedy. The same action was taken with regard to a petition from street commissioner Bennett asking that a horse be purchased for his department.

City Engineer Kerch was directed to file a sidewalk grade for the north side of Havine street, from Palm to Pine street. The street commissioner was directed to repair Jackson street between S. Third and Oakland ave. and Division street between Milwaukee and Court streets and have Carlington and Wheeler streets rolled; all the holes on Eastern avenue from McKee boulevard south to the city limits; clear the mud from S. Main street and fill the chuck holes; scrape the gutters on N. Bluff, N. First and Glen streets, and serve notice on the Wisconsin Telephone Co., to remove guy wires in the vicinity of lots 18, 19, 20, and 21 Mitchell's fourth addition, on Pleasant street, at once and see to it that the order is carried out. The city engineer was directed to file a sidewalk grade for the east side of S. Bluff street from S. Second to S. Third.

Nearly a hundred people joined in the chase, but the dog was finally put to death. The dog was seen running through yards, biting at itself and trees that it passed. PHONES INSTALLED TO CUT EXPENSES

New System of Dispatching Trains Result of Legislation Against Roads.

In order to cut down the expenses made necessary by the eight hour labor law which requires three shifts of men in the telegraph stations where formerly two shifts did the work, the railroads throughout the state are installing telephones and will probably eliminate the use of the telegraph wire as much as possible. It is predicted that one half of the operators now working telegraph keys will be superseded by telephone girls within a year. Nearly all of the railroad operating in the state have begun to use this system and some hundreds of phones have been put in on their lines. Only the Northwestern and has a telephone wire through this city but the St. Paul road has them in other cities.

IMPORTANT SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY.

A Clinical Preparation That Positively Kills the Dandruff Germ.

A most important discovery has been made after a year's patient laboratory work aimed in a certain direction—it is Nowbro's Herpicide, a preparation that prevents falling hair, and speedily and permanently eradicates dandruff. These evils are caused by a germ or parasite that burrows into the scalp, throwing up dandruff, as it seeks to sap the life of the hair at the root. There's no baldness without falling of this hair, no thin hair without dandruff, and no dandruff if the germ is destroyed. Nowbro's Herpicide is the only preparation that will do the work. "Destroy the cause, you will remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00.

In New Zealand the annual expenditure on pensions has increased from £157,432 in 1900 to £314,184 in 1907.

THE PLAINS OF ABRAHAM

The battle lasted only fifteen minutes. But it determined the destiny of a continent. "Now, God be praised, I will die in peace!" were the words of the dying Wolfe as he caught the cry, "They run!" Of equal significance was the exclamation of Montcalm, "I shall not live to see the surrender of Quebec." The supremacy of the English speaking race on the American continent was settled for all time in the short and sharp conflict on the Plains of Abraham, says the Chicago Tribune.

The gift of $50,000 by the prince of Wales for the preservation of the historic ground is most appropriate. The children of many generations will visit it in coming years. It will be an inspiration to patriotism and a place of sentimental reflection. With its wonderful natural location and its historic associations it will remain one of the world's great memorials forever.

"What mean ye by these stones?" is a question asked by many others than the children of Israel. "The world will never forget what they did here," was Lincoln's declaration about Gettysburg. The sadness and sorrow of the battlefield are forgotten. The glory remains.

The prince of Wales has recognized the power of sentimental association. America is paying more and more attention as the years pass by to its notable spots of interest. They may be battlefields where the graves of the dead lie thick among the monuments erected by the living. They may be beautiful tracts of natural wonders like those of the Yosemite, the Yellowstone, the Grand canon, or the giant sequoia of California.

But their preservation tells of the same sort of sentiment. They proclaim the presence in life of something more than commerce. They speak of lofty sentiments not to be found in the marts of trade. The conception of Joshua in commemorating the parting of the waters of Jordan before the ark of the Lord was an early manifestation of a spirit which has been a distinguishing characteristic of humanity.

In the preservation of places which appeal to the highest sentiments of the race always is found the strength of a people. It is this fact which lends particular significance to England's contribution to the permanent memorials of Quebec and to our own steadily growing interest in the landmarks of our past.

A TRIBUTE

Once in a generation there comes a man who in public life demonstrates that he can rise above the petty bickering of a political strife and give credit where credit is due. Under the caption "Farmers," Collier's pays Theodore Roosevelt the following compliment:

"A second tribute to Grover Cleveland showed President Roosevelt's deep-sounding judgment again. His appreciation after Cleveland's death was one of the best put forth, and contrasted nobly with the cowardly shuffling at Denver. His renouncing of a national forest reserve for the democrat who worked so sternly for our national resources was a still surer proof of open-mindedness. These instances of fair thought, transcending party lines, are always welcome. His conscientiously just treatment of Cleveland deserves to rank high among President Roosevelt's recent acts, and will contribute, like his forest policy, in spite of western votes—to build for posterity the figure of one who was not only a popular idol, but also a large and generous servant of the truth. Of course he makes mistakes. A man all of whose thinking is done aloud, and many of whose acts are experimental, must often be in error, but the President usually backs water when he is wrong and persists when he is right. There is need in a free government for many kinds of men. We may realize that Charles William Eliot was the ideal man to meet the growing situation, before the last race between Yale and Harvard, and yet understand at the same time how enormously valuable a citizen Theodore Roosevelt is. The more kinds of value we are able to appreciate in our public men, the more wholesome is our outlook, the sweeter is our public life. Happily partisanship is every year less bitter."

ON THE BOOKS

That a thousand new freight cars for the North-Western have been ordered has a pleasing sound. While this order may have been placed because the shops have been idle and bids for construction were exceptionally low. But the more fact of such an order has its hopeful feature. The outlook must see signs of "something doing" before long. The farmer reports big crops which must be moved to market and cars are needed to move them.

Dan's weekly review conservatively mentions "moderate not gains each week." It gives the net result, all deductions being made, as a larger volume of business in the aggregate. A year ago all records up to that time were being eclipsed. For that reason the comparisons now are gratifying. 1908 being placed alongside 1907, recovery is slow at best. But there is ground for encouragement in these signs.

In the first assembly district of Rock county Whitte and Getto are seeking to represent their district in the assembly. Both are well known and to an unprejudiced voter Whitte appears better qualified for the office.

The real influence of the Denver convention have not been felt yet. Campaign contributions in districts came in, but the plucking of the "big ones" has in some mysterious manner been delayed.

That fight in Illinois has every indication of being an exceptionally bitter one. Yates or Deenen—the reformer and the old ring. The outcome will be worth keeping track of.

The nominations have closed; the last rounds of the political fights are to begin. From now on it is a bitter fight with no overtures of peace.

So it is understood now that Hatten is to be Wisconsin's junior senator. Well, the voters still have an opportunity to guess.

THE WOMAN WITH THE DISH RAG.

Do you know what is the most dangerous occupation in the world? It may surprise you to learn that it is the occupation of housekeeping. Says Dr. Dickenson of Chicago, an authority in statistical studies. These are some of the dangers the housekeeper faces every day:

Death by scalding.
By gasoline or gas explosions.
By falling down dark stairways.
By heat prostration.
By insanitary sewerage.
By exhausting drudgery.
By suicide caused by the hopeless ness of daily routine.

These are not fanciful dangers. Each of them has its frightful statistics of fatality. At the battle of San Juan, of 10,000 soldiers, 300 were killed—a death rate of three-tenths of 1 per cent. The death rate of women who keep house is much larger. And, strangely enough, while modern warfare reduces the percentage of deaths, labor saving devices in the household increase the percentage. Gas and gasoline explosions are especially notable as domestic tragedies.

The slaughter of mothers exceeds that of the warriors.
That old time picture of the husband going forth to the dangers of the day, leaving the wife safely protected in the home nook, must be changed.
Housekeeping at the best is more or less a monotonous and monotonous occupation. It is to weary thousands a spiritless regime. To many a frail or nervous woman this bondage to the commonplace is in itself a tragedy. When there is added to it all exhausting labor and a menial as real as that of the battlefield, what must we say?

The remedy?
Society must do more for the housewife. There must be more safety appliances and better sanitary conditions. Kitchens and cellars should be more habitable. Women should be better instructed as to the nature of explosives. CHILDREN SHOULD BE TAUGHT IN THE SCHOOL THE COMMON THINGS as well as the higher things of life. There should be a better division of labor in the household. Let the man, if necessary, do his part. There should be some diversion from the ceaseless strain of drudgery. "Work is not a curse; drudgery is." Let the world forget for awhile the sorrows of "The Man With the Hoe" and contemplate for a time the fate of the woman with the dish rag.

Mother, can I go out to swim?
Oh, yes, my darling daughter,
But first go to the drygoods store
And buy the things you ought to.

This is the season when price reductions come to the front. The autumn stocks will soon come pouring in. We need space.

This Time It Was Different.

"To tell the truth, Dr. Richards," said the wife of one of our most prosperous merchants, "I have neglected my teeth for years, since Dr. Richards of this city filled some teeth for me. He put me so dreadfully that I laughed and cried in almost hysterical when at last he let me out of that chair."

"Well," said Dr. Richards, "how was it this time?"

"You never hurt me one bit," said she and the Dr. had just finished filling a lot of her teeth with gold.

It is very pleasant to Dr. Richards to receive these kind words from bright, intelligent people who know when they receive good services and appreciate them.

The multitude of hearty endorsements given him in this city by people who had tried him and found his work really painless, makes him stand out clearly among his fellows as the man to go to for real painless dentistry in Jansville.

His prices are also reasonable, which is not a bad feature for the one who pays the bill.

FIRE DEPARTMENT BUSY THESE DAYS

Have Answered Seven Alarms Since Last Friday Morning—Only One Serious.

Since last Friday morning the fire department has been out seven times in answer to alarms. Most of these have been still alarms and the only serious fire was on Friday when the Becker and Rosengale places were burned.

Last night the smudge which was being used to kill bugs on the plants in the Dwight greenhouses alarmed a passerby who turned in an alarm. The department had a long hard run before finding out his mistake.

At 6:30 this morning a still alarm was turned in. The roof of the European Hotel had caught fire from a spark from the chimney. The blaze was extinguished with the chemicals after nominal damage had been done.

Yesterday afternoon at 2:45 an alarm was turned in from the Becker or home. The half-burned tobacco which had been in the warehouse had started to smolder again. The fire was quickly extinguished.

PYTHIANS MEET IN CONVENTION

Denton, Aug. 4.—By train and boat, thousands of Pythians poured into this city Monday in time to take part in the exercises preliminary to the formal opening Tuesday of the twenty-fifth convention of the supreme lodge, the biennial encampment of the uniform rank of the Knights of Pythias and the annual convention of the Pythian Sisters.

The chief official action of the convention was the formal dedication, late in the day, of Camp Joseph H. Lyon on Franklin field, one of the largest public playgrounds in Boston, where a canvas city of 2,500 tents accommodates the greater portion of the large number of the guests. The dedicatory exercises were brief but impressive. Supreme Representative D. Sydney Woodworth, president of the Boston ways and means committee, for this convention, transferred the camp to Charles A. Barnes, supreme chancellor of the order, who, in turn, transferred it to Arthur J. Stobart, major general commanding the uniform rank.

At the background held in connection with this event, there were addresses by Gov. Curtis Guild and Mayor George A. Hibbard.

Record-Keepers Meet.

The first business session in connection with Pythian week was the opening session of the biennial convention of the Grand Keepers of Records and Seals' association in Kingsley hall, Ford building. President U. S. Burns of Wisconsin presided and D. W. Bartlett of Little Rock, Ark., was the secretary. Grand Chancellor George W. Penniman of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts welcomed the members.

An important meeting of the advisory board of the Pythian Sisters was held in Hotel Brunswick during the day, attended by Anna M. Young of Zanesville, O., supreme chief of the Pythian Sisters and many other officials of the auxiliary. The meeting was secret.

All arrangements were completed for the big parade of the uniform rank Tuesday.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, August 4, 1868.—Emancipation Celebration.—There has been an extensive gathering today of the colored people of this section to participate in a celebration commemorative of the emancipation of the blacks in the West Indies. The exercises consisted of an oration by Mr. J. P. Newman of Chicago, and a dinner in Chase's Grove, just north of the city. Music and dancing were also in the program for the day, and a ball in Wheeler's hall this evening. The match game of ball between the colored clubs of Detroit and Rockford, which was to have taken place on the grounds on Milton Ave., did not come off because the former club did not appear in time. A more orderly, and better behaved crowd of strangers never came to the city so far as we observed, than those who came to take part in this celebration.

Cincinnati, Aug. 4.—The recent rise in the Ohio river has brought out all the first class packets. The double deckers America and General Lytle of the United States mail line have resumed their trips between Cincinnati and Louisville.

Poughkeepsie, Aug. 4.—An exciting boat race came off yesterday afternoon at Sing Sing between Chas. Ward of the Ward brothers and Jared Raymond of this place. The course was one mile and a half south and returned for one hundred dollars a side. At the start Raymond took the lead and maintained it until he had passed the stake boat, when one of his outriggers broke. Ward then passed him and won the race. The judges decided in Ward's favor, time not given. The affair caused much excitement and Sam Collier offered to match Raymond again for any amount of money the Ward's care raise.

About $2,000 changed hands on the result. Raymond was the favorite at two to one.

Washington, Aug. 3.—The Union Congressional Executive committee, wishing to place themselves in communication with all parts of the country request Grant clubs and all other republican organizations, to send their addresses to the chairman of the committee.

New York, Aug. 3.—The money for the Alaska purchase was paid yesterday in gold certificates. Baron Mosekel wanted a draft on London, but as he could not get it, he took the coin or its equivalent.

JEALOUSY CAUSES TRAGEDY.

Metropolis, Ill., Youth Kills Rival, Sweetheart and Self.

Metropolis, Ill., Aug. 4.—When Jim Kelley, a 19-year-old boy, met his sweetheart, Miss Eva Sooter, and Link James, a young butcher, driving near Metropolis, crazed with jealousy Kelley killed James, shot the girl in the abdomen and blew out his own brains.

Young Kelley was driving with Miss Lena Oliver at Forttown, six miles from Metropolis. They heard a buggy come up behind them. Kelley evidently knew who the parties behind were, for he quickly turned his horse and stopped them. Leaping to the ground he began firing. James was killed at the first shot. Miss Sooter was fatally shot in the abdomen. Standing in the country road, Kelley then turned the pistol on himself and almost blew off the top of his head. He made no attempt to shoot Miss Oliver, who fled at the first shot. The shooter was a son of George Kelley, who is in business in Paducah, Ky., but makes his home at Metropolis, where all of the parties resided. He would have graduated from the high school next year.

GREAT BLAZE IN CHICAGO

BIG ELEVATORS AND RAILROAD FREIGHT DEPOTS BURN.

Property Loss is Estimated at $2,000,000—Scores of Firemen Badly Injured.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—Scores of firemen were burned and otherwise injured, more or less seriously, during the progress of a spectacular dock and grain elevator fire in the vicinity of Canal and West Sixteenth streets Monday afternoon.

The property destroyed includes the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy freight depot, elevator F and the Union elevator of the Armour company, part of elevator E, many freight sheds and cars, and minor property. The loss is estimated at $2,000,000.

Twelve companies of firemen were threatened with death and were practically hemmed in between walls of fire at 2:30 p. m. after a wall of fire broke out in the elevator.

The men were working in a pit between the river and the burning elevator while a huge pile of sand ten feet high and several hundred feet long was on two sides of them.

When the wall of the huge elevator fell into the river brands were scattered in every direction and the fire attacked buildings on the east side of the water.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 4.—A special from Des Moines states that the Shevlin-Mathis Lumber company's sawmill caught fire Monday afternoon and burned to the ground, causing a loss of approximately $250,000.

Jane Cable

...By...
GEORGE BARR McCUTCHEON,
Author of "Beverly of Graustark," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1908, BY DODD, MEAD & COMPANY

The probable solution had come to Droom like a flash. As he hurried up the street his mind was full of the theory. He scarcely could wait for the door of David Cable's house to be opened in response to his vigorous ringing. The maid announced that Mr. and Mrs. Cable were out. It was enough for Droom. He put the puzzle together in that instant. David Cable's face was the one he had seen, not James Danesmer. The maid set up a hysterical shrieking when he bluntly told her of the mishap to her mistress, but he did not wait to answer questions. He was off to find James Danesmer. The volcano he had been watching so long was about to burst, and he knew it.

Forgetting his wet garments, he entered a drug store and telephoned to Danesmer's home. His employer answered the call so readily that Droom knew he had not been far from the instrument that evening. There was a note of disappointment in his voice when Droom's horse tones replied to his polite "Hello!"

"I'll be over in half an hour," said Droom. "Very important business, is Graydon there?"

"He's just gone to Cable's. Some one telephoned for him a minute or so ago. What's wrong? Do you know?"

"I'll be there in fifteen minutes," was all that Droom would say.

Ellas' memory could not carry him back to the time when he had hired a cab. A cab was one of the luxuries he had not cultivated. One can only imagine his surprise, then, when he found himself hailing a passing hansom, and greater the surprise he must have felt when he clambered in and ordered the driver to go in a gallop to a certain place in Wells street. Ten minutes later he was attired in dry, warm clothes and in the cab again, bound for Danesmer's home. What he said to James Danesmer on that memorable occasion need not be repeated. It is only necessary to say that his host was bitterly impressed and willing to admit that the developments might prove serious. They could only speculate as to what had transpired between David Cable and his wife out there by the sea wall, but it was enough for them to know that a crisis was at hand.

"We'll see what the morning papers say about the affair," said Danesmer, uneasy and cold.

The morning papers were full of the sensational robbery, the prominence of the victim and the viciousness of the attack. Ellas Droom read the accounts eagerly as he breakfasted in the dingy little restaurant near his home, bright and early. He grinned appreciably over the share of glory that fell to him, and he actually chuckled over the new developments in the great mystery.

He had observed with relief that the name of James Danesmer was not mentioned. The reports from the bedside of the rubber's victim were most optimistic. She was delirious from the effects of the shock, but no serious results were expected. The great headlines on the first page of the paper he was reading set his mind temporarily at rest. There was no suggestion of truth in them.

The reader of this narrative, who knows the true facts in the case, is doubtless more interested in the movements and emotions of David Cable than in the surmises of others. It would be difficult for a certainty to ask one to put himself in Cable's place and to experience the sensations of that unhappy man as he fled along the dark shore of the lake. Perhaps much will be taken on faith if the writer simply says that the fugitive finally slunk from the weeds and refuge of what was then called "the district of Lake Michigan"—"Strocterville" in local parlance—to find himself panting and terror-stricken in the bleak east end of Chicago avenue. It was not until then that he secured control of his nerves and resorted to the stealth and cunning of the great criminal.

Far off on one of the crowded streets a newsboy was calling an extra-house, unintelligible shouts that froze his blood. He bent his ear to catch the faraway words of the boy, "All about do not side murder!" His chilled and shocked under the rancorous shout. He knew what it meant.

A policeman suddenly turned the corner and came toward him. The first impulse was to fly; the next was to stand and deliver himself. The resolution came with shocking unexpectedness. He would give himself up. He would admit that he had killed his wife. The words of anguish were on his lips when the policeman spoke.

"Is it you, Mr. Cable? How is she, sir?"

Cable did not hear the man, for, as he opened his lips to cry out his own guilt, a thought formed in his brain that almost staggered him with its cunning savagery. Why not let the penalty fall on James Danesmer? She had gone out to meet him! If she had not destroyed the note it would hang James Danesmer, and James Danesmer was worse than a murderer. But even as this remarkable thought rushed into his brain the last words of the officer began to drive it out.

"Is she going to pull through, sir?" was the next question, and he caught it eagerly.

"Pull through?" he murmured heartlessly. "He leaned against a great stone rail suddenly. Everything was leaping before his eyes.

"Good Lord, Mr. Cable—I-I forgot. Don't you know about it?" gasped the officer.

"Know what?" asked Cable, completely dazed.

"Go home at once, sir. I didn't mean to—oh, hurry, sir. Don't be worried. They say she'll be all right. Sure! She's been hurt a little, sir."

"My daughter?" demanded Cable, as keen as a razor in an instant. His heart was trying to jump from his body.

"Your wife, sir. Nothing serious, sir. She was held up along here some where and robbed. They're sure to get the villain, Sir."

But Cable was off like a deer for his home, racing as though on air.

From that time forth the silvering and white with dogged intention in a flatterer's eye, bent upon establishing an alibi, his movements were scarcely worth the details. Between the nets he saw a dozen men whom he knew and he took drinks with several of them. His tremendous will power carried him through the ordeal in a way that could not have fallen to the good fortunes of the ordinary lawbreaker.

Every second of the time his thoughts were of the thing which was being buffeted by the icy waters of the lake. Where was that thing now? How far out into the lake had it been carried?

His body was covered with the cold perspiration of dread and horror. His soul was moaning; his whole being was against the awfulness of the deed; he could have shrieked aloud in his madness. How he lived through the hour in that theater he never could have told, nor could he believe that he was sitting there with all those frightful thoughts piling themselves upon him. Other people laughed and shouted with happiness; he stared and wept in his heart and shivered and cringed and groined within himself.

He had killed her! She had been true to him, and yet he had taken her life, the life she had given him! He gave no thought to Jane, no thought to Danesmer. He thought only of himself as the slayer.

Would her body be recovered? What would be his excuse, what his punishment? The galleys? A thousand horrors ran riot in his brain, a thousand tremors with each.

But why dwell upon the feelings of this miserable wretch? Why say more of his terror, his misery, his remorse? He held himself in the seat until the middle of the last act of the play. At last, unable to restrain himself longer, he arose and almost ran from the theater. That instant which no slayer can control or explain was overpowering him. It was the instant which attracts the murderer to the spot where his crime was committed. No man can describe or define this restless impulse, and yet all criminologists recognize it, clear and unmistakable. It is no less than a form of curiosity. Driven by this irresistible force, David Cable, with bravado that cost him dearly, worked his unimpeded way to the scene of his crime. By trolley car to Chicago avenue and then, like a homeless dog scenting his way fearfully, to a corner not far from the break in the wall.

His legs trembled and his eyes grew wide with dread. The swirl of the water came to his ears, and he stood still for many minutes, listening for a cry for help from off the shore. But none came, and again walking along, he covered the blocks that lay between him and the magnetite rift in the wall. Near the corner he stopped, with a start of alarm.

The figure of a man could be seen standing like a statue on the very spot where he had seen her disappear. While he stood there, his heart scarcely beating, the solitary figure was joined by two others. Cable shrank back into the dense shadows. Like a flash it occurred to him that they were searching for the body. A shriek of agony arose to his lips. But he checked it.

A decorated gold and silver album has been prepared for President Roosevelt. It consists of 21 pages of photographs.

Suva, Fiji Islands, Aug. 4.—The American Atlantic fleet, at eight o'clock Monday evening, was in latitude 18°29' south, longitude 175°51' west, with Auckland distant 1,260 miles. Wireless communication will be held with the fleet every night until Auckland is reached.

The address, which is surrounded by a handsome border of warships in a vignette of American blackjackets and floral decorations, heartily welcomes the fleet and appreciates the fact that New Zealand is the first British community to entertain it. The visit is hailed as a token of good-will to New Zealand conceived in the highest interest of international amity, tending to preserve the peace of the world and especially the security of the country's islands in the Pacific.

It is especially appropriate, the address continues, that the fleet is commanded by an officer who so ably represented the American government at the second Hague peace conference, and it is the deep conviction of New Zealanders that the British and American navies will over be powerful to maintain the peace of the world and aid in the advance of civilization. It is hoped that the visit will afford opportunities of expressing the kindly feelings cherished by the Dominion toward the United States.

The address is enclosed in a handsome wood case with an inlaid cover having a design emblematic of New Zealand.

Three Flights by Farman.

New York, Aug. 4.—Three successful flights in his aeroplane were made by Henry Farman, the aviator, at the Brighton Beach race course Monday afternoon. Each was straight ahead.

On his first flight he covered about two-thirds of the distance at a height of never more than six feet. The second flight was a little longer, and on the third he traversed the entire distance, about 800 yards. This last time the machine was 20 feet above the ground.

THE VERY FIRST.

Could he manage for his father-in-law given him the money?—By Jove! the first money I have ever earned in my life.

ROBBY HE SPOKE.

"Tom—I wouldn't be a fool if I were you."

"What—if you were not you wouldn't be a fool."

EVERY TIME.

"You did you ever hear money talk?"

"Yes."

"What did it say?"

"Goodbye!"

SO UNREASONABLE.

Mother—Tommy, what's the matter with you little brother?

Tommy—He's crying because I'm eating my cake and won't give him any.

Mother—Is his own cake finished?

Tommy—Yes'm, and he cried while I was eating that, too.

A CLUE.

Evadne—Which one of those girls is it that you don't like?

Louise—Hush! she'll hear you! When the crowd comes up I'll kiss her twice.

Where Women Excel.

A writer in a London paper says that a woman who is a good housekeeper would, if she were a man, be a kitchenmaid or a Carnegie, so difficult are the requirements of the profession, with its endless string of menial.

The writer hints that we are hearing less about pure food, and that there is a greater tendency to good, solid, substantial food, with more thought of good things to eat than of the all-montary principles.

Women as Photographers.

An ornithologist says that women make better field photographers than men, as they have that tact and perseverance which wins the confidence of the bird and gives them the opportunity to get photographs of it in natural poses.

Any work in connection with natural history ought to be interesting to women, but they do not seem to have the love for it that men have.

A Paradox.

"The man who does nothing," was the observation of our Uncle Homer, "does worse than nothing."

LAPORTE'S LATEST MYSTERY.

Body of Man, Presumably Murdered,
Found in Crude Grave.

Laporte, Ind., Aug. 4.—Laporte has another murder mystery for solution.

The discovery in a half-dug grave, covered over with fence rails, branches of trees and other debris, on the farm of Dr. Howell, near Holtz Prairie, of the badly decomposed body of a well-dressed man about 40 years old, has aroused the authorities to an effort to discover the identity of the body and whether the man was murdered.

Coroner Mack, after carefully examining the body, declared the man had been shot through the head. The clothing, which was almost new, was purchased in Grand Rapids, Mich. The only thing found in the clothing was a copy of a "Minneapolis" paper. The man wore a Panama hat and patent leather shoes. Identification through recognition of the features of the face will be almost an impossibility.

Cadets Not Yet Reinstated.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Aug. 4.—Whether the dismissal from the West Point Military academy of the eight cadets who had been found guilty of hazing is to be made permanent or the young men reinstated through congressional action or executive clemency is still undetermined.

This attitude of the government is set forth in an official statement issued by President Roosevelt through Rudolph Foster, acting private secretary to the president in the absence of Secretary Loeb, now on his vacation.

London's Beggars.

It is calculated that 4,000 persons make a living in London by begging, and that their average income amounts to about 30 shillings a week, or more than £300,000 a year. Last year 1,925 persons were arrested for begging in the streets, of whom more than 1,500 were sentenced to terms of imprisonment varying from one week to three months. Many of these objects of charity were found in possession of sums of money, and even of bankbooks showing very handsome deposits.

Symbol of Wedding Ring.

The old Roman wedding ring was usually of iron, symbolical of the enduring bond, which perhaps explains the supposition of some authorities that it, in olden times, indicated the submission of the wearer, as did the iron ring worn about the neck and ankle.
